

"My extensive background in law enforcement helps OPENonline to deliver powerful and timely risk management and investigative services."

Richard Henderson

President and Chief Operating Officer

As President and Chief Operating Officer of OPENonline, Richard Henderson draws on his extensive experience in safety, security and investigative operations to lead OPENonline in the development and delivery of innovative, customer-centric background screening and investigations support services. With over 25 years in public safety, Mr. Henderson has a keen understanding of the critical importance of mitigating risks, detecting and preventing fraud, and protecting people and assets.

Under his direction and strategic guidance, OPENonline continues to enhance and expand its service offerings to meet the unique requirements of government entities and the growing needs of a diverse array of businesses that recognize the compelling benefits of employment screening and due diligence. With his stewardship, the company continually looks for ways improve service and to surpass clients' expectations.

Prior to joining OPENonline, Mr. Henderson has held numerous positions of distinction with a major California Law Enforcement Agency, reaching the highest rank of Chief before his retirement in 2005.

In addition to Mr. Henderson's numerous law enforcement career achievements, he has also provided business-enhancing management consulting services to various private enterprises.

Mr. Henderson, a native Californian, is a Vietnam War Veteran and holds a degree in Business Management from the University of Redlands.
